A short time ago, a pig with a human hand growing out of its back was on exhibition here, we quote the following from the Melbourne Age of August 9th, to show that similar freaks of nature are not uncommon:

A considerable amount of merriment was caused at the meeting of the council of the National Agricultural Society yesterday on the receipt of a letter, which was as follows:—"Sir, I take the liberty in writing to you wishing to know if you would allow me to have 10 feet of ground at the forthcoming exhibition, on the 14th of August, to exhibit the following freaks of nature:—One goose with three legs, one gander also with three legs, one spanish rooster with formation of hand and arm growing from the spine of its back; also, a New Zealand water fowl." The secretary also submitted another letter, in which the writer stated:—"Having a bullock which was born without leg or shoulder, and said by many veterinary surgeons of Victoria to be a great freak of nature, I beg leave to exhibit him at the National Agricultural Society's Show, on Monday, the 14th inst, and following days. I will have a brass band in attendance."

If all that is said about this modification of the punkah is true it is well worth attention in this country, whatever the season may be. Attached to the frame of the punkah is an endless blind, passing round rollers at the top and bottom.
The bottom roller is in a trough containing a caustic alkali solution.
At every swing of the punkah a wheel and ratchet arrangement causes the rollers to revolve, thus drawing the sheet or blind through the solution. The wet sheet or swinging to and fro takes up from the air the sulphurous and carbonic acid gases, as well as some organic matter. Brought to the test of experiment, says the Enquirer, this plan appears to work successfully.
In a small room 17 feet by 15 feet and only 8 feet high 50 jets of a gas stove were set burning for an hour, with the window and doors of the room closed, and to make it still further unfit for human life a quarter of an ounce of sulphur was burned in it. The punkah charged with caustic soda was here set to work, and in 10 minute the temperature was reduced from 85° to 75° Fahrenheit, and the air was made sufficiently fresh and pleasant for 20 persons crowded in the room.—
N. Y. Times.

A desperate leap for liberty was taken, a few days ago, by a noted burglar of North Carolina, who, handcuffed and tied, sprang out of a car window and went down a precipice of eighty feet, where he disappeared.
